

Helen Witty

Helen has forty-two years teaching experience in secondary schools in London and Essex. She has taught children from Year 7 to Sixth Form, including history, geography, sociology, law, business studies and economics. Throughout her career she has been determined to help all children aim high and maximise their achievements.

She has spent thirty years in senior leadership roles in schools, including responsibility for Curriculum and Timetable, Human Resources and Sixth Form.

She first became a school governor in 1988. She is Chair of Governors of Marner Primary School in Tower Hamlets in addition to her role at Langdon Park School.

Her extensive experience of governance has involved responsibility for SEND and Safeguarding, and chairing Finance & Resources, Curriculum & Development, and School Improvement Committees.

More recently she has been a member of external panels to examine parental complaints and appointed to undertake an independent investigation of Governing Board conduct.
